

Bibliography of Islamic Philosophy: Alphabetical List of Publications (Handbook of Oriental Studies/Handbuch Der Orientalistik) (v. 1 & 2)

This bibliography covers more than 9500 primary and secondary sources for the study of Islamic philosophy. Volume One, the alphabetical list, includes all known publications in Western and non-Western languages from the 15th century to the present, including Greek and Syriac sources. The second volume, the index, covers information on authors, texts, translations and commentaries, and philosophical terms and concepts. The bibliography should show the relevance of Islamic thought for Jewish and medieval Latin scholasticism and its influences on modern European and Islamic thought. It is prefaced by an essay on the history and the significance of the study of Islamic philosophy.
