

Contemporary Green Prefab: Industrialized & Kit Architecture

This is a superbly illustrated look at the latest trends and innovations in prefab housing. Today, many architects and designers are reviving the prefabricated house, designing products that incorporate the very best elements of prefabrication and sustainability, and combining them with the individuality and unique quality of traditionally built housing. It is available in a wide range of materials, styles and prices, contemporary prefabricated houses are built on the broad history of their predecessors.
