

Learning Leadership: Building Your Professional Career

As a professional you will go through different stages in your professional development. Learning Leadership provides a roadmap outlining the important points in your career progress, and identifies the behaviors and strategies which will allow you to be successful as you grow. It will finally present a snapshot of the successful organizational leader--how they scan the environment for opportunities, manage organizational change and motivate their employees. Learning leadership provides a detailed examination of the stages that an emerging professional experiences--technical, professional, managerial and leadership. At each of these stages there are knowledge sets, perspectives and behaviors that will allow the candidate to be successful at these levels while looking forward and identifying skills that will be useful at future stages.
